THE CONSERVATIVES TO HOLD A CAUCUS THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Intend to Form a Permanent Conservative Club at the University

A caucus of the Conservative party of McGill is to be held in Strathcona Hall on Thursday afternoon of this week at 5 o'clock. The party leaders have been in communication with the Conservative organizers of this city for the past few weeks and are now prepared to go ahead with the formation of a permanent Conservative Club at the University. This move has been talked of for some time and the idea has been heartily endorsed by all who have had an opportunity to consider the matter at all. Several prominent figures in the political arena have commented most favorably on this project and have promised even support which is in their power to give. Thus we feel sure that in calling into being this new organization a means is being placed at the disposal of the students to get in closer touch with the political world and of developing their political thoughts and ideas.

This meeting on Thursday is to get an expression of opinion from a representative gathering of McGill Conservatives and if favorable, which we are assured will be the case, the necessary officers will be elected. It is most important that every student at all interested in this movement will be on hand at five sharp and give them advice and support to whatever may take place and to see that the men most fitted for the various offices should be elected. In politics, as in every other sphere of life, much depends on organization and we desire this new university undertaking to be perfect in this respect. We desire to see every faculty well represented as this a matter which pertains to all. We will expect every

SOCIALIST PARTY AT VARSITY WANT A REPRESENTATIVE

Would Elect a Member to Provincial Legislature

The new Social Democratic party of the Toronto University Literary Society fired no doubt by the example of Oxford, Cambridge and other universities in Great Britain, have included in their political platform a declaration of their contention that the student body should be directly represented in the Provincial Legislature.

The intention is to put the matter before the faculty and if the support of the student body can be obtained, to present a largely signed petition backed by a strong deputation to the Ontario Government asking for representation in the House.

At present it is pointed out that the average student, while he has a right to vote somewhere, has no such right in the city, where he is probably located when the elections are held and so his vote is lost.

Faculty meetings will be arranged within a few days to ascertain the sentiment of all the students and these will be followed by a mass meeting at which a petition to the legislature will be drafted.

The Ontario Government does not view political activities in the University with favor. Sir James Whitney, when asked for his opinion on the introduction of politics replied that he feared evil would result but declined to give any reason for his attitude in the matter. Consequently it is thought that this agitation for representation on the part of the Socialists of the University will meet with very little success.

interested student to be at Strathcona Hall at 5 p.m. Thursday when the Liberal-Conservative Club of McGill University will be formally organized and the officers elected.

on account of not having had any practice to put him into condition.

The following men were out: Mann, Kondall, Fawcett, Riley, Sutherland, Parkins, McLean, Clark, Stewart, De Muth, Graham, Hibbard, Fraser and McCauley.

So far R.M.C. and Queens II have not played either of the two games they have to play. Both teams have been badly handicapped on account of the climatic conditions. R.M.C. have only been able to hold three practices this season and these have been on a sloppy surface. As far as can be learnt at present these two teams have decided upon the 10th and 11th of this month as the dates for their games.

The date upon which our Second Team would like to play in Kingston is the 14th, that being the time when the Seniors are playing there, but this comes in the same week as these two teams are playing their home and home games. This would give one of them three games in five days so it is evident that as the arrangement stands it will hardly suit. Another development is that the game our second team plays in Kingston will probably be a sudden death game for the championship of the eastern section of the Intermediate Intercollegiate League as the only time up on which R.M.C. who will likely beat Queens II can come to Montreal is during a week-end and McGill only has hours at the Arena on Monday and Wednesday. It would not be worth while financially to get an extra night especially for this game so the game in Kingston will in all probability settle the championship of the Eastern section of the league.

SECOND AND THIRD TEAMS USE SENIOR HOUR AT THE ARENA

The Senior Hockey Team did not practice yesterday, so the second and third teams took advantage of the hour at the Arena, and had a workout.

The second team are working hard to be in readiness for their game against the winners of the R.M.C. and Queens section of the league. The team that McGill will be able to put on the ice to play the winners between these two will be exceptionally strong. Mann will be in goal, with Kendall and Fawcette, the two men most likely to be on the defence, playing in front of him. For the forward line there is no dearth of players, Sargent, Wickson, Forman, Riley and J. Scott all being eligible to play.

Yesterday afternoon the two teams went at it hammer and tongs, and put in a good hour's work out. Riley starred, his play being conspicuous at all times and he seems to be in good conditions. De Muth plays a very aggressive game and did a lot of useful work. Hibbard, who was playing on the defence of the third team, pulled off some rushes which had the scoring label attached. He handles his stick well and if he would work a little harder ought to make a very useful player, being big and heavy. Sutherland, last year captain and centre of the R.M.C. team, was out for the first time, but was not able to stand the pace very well

Editorial

The number of small societies in the Faculty of Applied Science continues to increase from year to year and each one of them interests chiefly those men taking one particular course in that Faculty. To bear out this statement it is only necessary to name a few of them; for instance, the Chemical, Electrical and Mining Societies. These bodies have of necessity a very strong appeal to their own members and as a result the average undergraduate usually only cares to patronize the one in which he is most interested. The parent body, the Undergraduate Society of Applied Science, suffers in consequence.

At a recent meeting of the Society the attendance was very small, in spite of the fact that an excellent speaker had been secured for the occasion and also that the meeting had been well advertised before hand. This is much to be regretted and we feel that it is largely attributable to the influence of the smaller societies.

It is natural that a man who wishes to promote his own special professional interests should prefer to attend those meetings which tend towards this object. It is obvious that these societies are of the highest value to their members but it is unfortunate that they should indirectly keep science men away from meetings of the Science Society. The fact that they accomplish this can scarcely be contested.

A suggestion has been made that the Undergraduate Society of Applied Science should be remodeled along the lines of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, and we understand that steps have been taken in this direction. For the benefit of those who are not acquainted with the above well-known Society, we may say that it consists of a number of sections, Electrical, Mechanical, and so forth, each headed by a chairman. The proposal has been advanced that every department in the Faculty of Science should be represented by a chairman and a secretary, and that these men should be expected to secure a speaker every three weeks or so.

A reorganization of the Society along these lines would of necessity affect the individualities of the various clubs at present in existence. It might even result in the abandonment of the majority of them altogether. Whether or not this is desirable is a moot question and one which we can scarcely take it upon ourselves to answer. We do think however that a reorganization of the parent Society will certainly come sooner or later.

Mukilteo club meeting, and bring it in by tomorrow. Isn't that great?

It was rather disappointing. There were only four persons at the meeting. Two of them nominated the other two for president. It was hard work, but I got both nominating speeches in full; they were rather complimentary. Then the minutes were read, and I got them. I was awful excited. I knew it was a big story. This morning I took it to the office. I don't care if I do say so, it was a good story. It was complete in every detail. I knew that. I put it on the desk, and hurried away. Then I remembered something I had forgot—who was elected president. I slipped back and looked it on the end. No one saw me, I am sure. I looked for the paper this afternoon. It seemed awful late, but may be that was because I was nervous. Finally it came out and I grabbed one of the first. My story wasn't on the first page.

It took me some time to find it, but nestling in between the announcements and classified ads. I saw these lines:
"John Jones was yesterday elected president of the Mukilteo club. He will assume office the first of next semester."—Washington Daily.

The tank the swimming team swam in at the meet with Brookline, was 120 feet long. This is a great deal longer than the Y.M.C.A. and M.A.A.A. tanks which are only 75 feet and 60 feet respectively.

Trying Out For The Daily

I think I will try out for the Daily here. I know one man who did, and he said it was easy, provided you found out how to stand in with the editors. I think I could do the work all right. I used to write poems and essays for the high school magazine.

I saw one of the editors today. He seemed rather hesitant, but said that he would let me try out, though that was rather a concession. I told him about my high school poems. One of the men who was making black marks on some manuscript must have read something funny, for he snorted right out.

Hurrah! The first assignment: That's what they call the things when you're sent out for a "story". Oh, I know all about the office talk. There's copy, and stories, and junk, and yarns, and gossip, and filler, and time copy, and feature stuff, and oh, a whole lot of stuff. But today—I must be terse—I am to "cover" the

FRENCH CLUB HEAR INTERESTING SPEECH BY DR. A.S. THERRIER

Last Night's Meeting was Most Successful

Last night a well attended and most successful meeting of the French Club was held at Strathcona Hall. After the members had looked after a most excellent meal, provided by J. M. Shew, the speaker of the evening was called upon.

The guest was the Rev. A. L. Therrier, and he spoke for a short time about the achievements of one of McGill's most prominent graduates, Prof. Braque may not be known to many undergraduates of the present day, but he has received many degrees from McGill, among them the honorary one of L.L.D.

On graduating from McGill, Jean Braque went to France and took up mission work there on behalf of the McCall Mission. For this institution he did good work, and made himself thoroughly familiar with the French people. This knowledge was of great service to him later on.

About 15 years ago he went to Vassar College, and became Professor of Romance languages. Here he did excellent work, and from Vassar he wrote many articles which did much to interpret France and the United States to each other.

His most important piece of work however, was one which took three years to perfect. For three summers he laboured in the archives of Washington, London and Paris, respectively, and in the end tabulated all the available information on the Newfoundland fisheries dispute. His reward was a letter of thanks from the Premier of France saying that he had done more than anyone else to close up the vexatious question, for he had unearthed documents unknown to the arbiters. This was the beginning of the Evénement Cordiale and Prof. Braque's real reward is the feeling which now exists between the two nations.

Dr. Therrier was heartily applauded and a vote of thanks was passed to him for the kindness he had shown the Club.

DR. ROSWELL BATES WILL SPEAK HERE IN NEAR FUTURE

To Give an Address on New York's Slums

On Monday evening next the Rev. Dr. Roswell Bates will give an address on New York's slums at the regular monthly supper in Strathcona Hall.

Dr. Bates, who is a favorite at the Northfield Conference, is well known to many McGill men and comes highly recommended as a "specialist" in his line, putting the slums out of existence.

Those who have heard Dr. Bates say that his story of the life of lower New York is most dramatic and intensely interesting, though it is told in a modest and unassuming manner.

His graphic pictures reveal the sordid life of the "Lower Five", who dwell in squalor of the vilest type. Drunkenness, slavery, ignorance and immorality are present in their most revolting conditions.

What appears as a paradox is that the police system is worse than useless, for time after time it has been shown that the "Upholders of the Law" are the greatest offenders against Law and Order.

Dr. Bates also tells of the work which his parish is doing in trying to help clean up this plague spot of Modern Society.

This meeting will be very interesting to college men and a good attendance is desired.

THE CANADIAN CLUB TO HOLD MEETING ON FEBRUARY 13TH

Dr. J.T. Finnie will Speak on Education in the Province of Quebec

The next meeting of the McGill Canadian Club will take place at the Union, on Thursday of next week, February 13th. Dr. J. T. Finnie, M.L.A., will speak on Education in the Province of Quebec. Dr. Finnie is one of the best authorities on this subject, having made a special study of our educational system for the past six years.

The speaker is a graduate of McGill and sits in the Quebec Legislature for St. Lawrence Division (Montreal).

INTER-CLASS GAME WON BY THE SOPHS. BY A CLOSE SCORE

Second Year Arts Defeat
Freshmen by Score of 3-2

In a closely contested game Arts '15 defeated Arts '16 on the campus rink by the score of 3-2. The game was more of a shinny fight than an exhibition of hockey, the freshies especially being inclined to mix things up. The ice was cut up and covered with snow so the going was rather heavy. The game really started when MacKenzie scored for the freshies by a long, rolling shot, that knocked Soph. goal tend to the ice. Then war was on in earnest and after a few moments hard play Gill put in one making the score one all. However, Barrett put the freshies ahead once more by a long shot from side. Fraser duplicated his trick making the score 2-2 at half time.

In the second half play was faster, neither side seemingly able to score until finally Williamson scored putting the Sophs. in the lead. The freshies disputed the score, but the umpires allowed it, and at the end of play the Sophs lead by score of 3-2.

T. M. Matthews, Med. '17, refereed the game while Robertson and Rexford of Arts '15, were goal umpires; Scriven, Arts '15, was timekeeper.

The players lined up as follows:

'15. Clark ... goal ... Fisher
Abbott ... point ... Armitage
Williamson ... cover ... Hibbard
Mahaffy ... rover ... Parkins
Revard ... centre ... Barrett
Fraser ... L. Wing ... MacKenzie
Gill ... R. Wing ... Jacques
The Sophs will play winners of the Senior-Junior game on Friday next.

MOCK PARLIAMENT POSTPONES SESSION

Next Meeting will be a Week from To-day

Contrary to the announcement which appeared in the columns of the Daily on Saturday there will be no sitting of the Mock Parliament this evening.

Arrangements had been made for holding the debate on the Reford Cup contest but through certain unavoidable circumstances this was found to be impossible and the executive of the Literary Society have therefore decided to postpone the sitting until a week from to-day.

At this meeting it is probable that the government will decline to bring down any legislation in order to give private members an opportunity to bring in any bills which they wish. Messrs. Holmes and McGuire, McGills representatives in the coming Inter-collegiate debate will probably introduce a bill providing for compulsory military training in Canada and several other members have signified their intention to introduce bills. This will provide an opportunity for every member who wishes to do so to speak. All bills must be placed before the clerk of the House not later than Saturday, February 8th.

The government which was sustained in the vote on the naval bill is considering a new piece of legislation but what this is will not be known for a few days at least as the members of the cabinet have declined to give any intimation of their intentions. Premier Walsh when interviewed yesterday by a Daily reporter said, "We are considering bringing down a bill of particular interest to students but as yet we are not in a position to make known the nature of the proposed measure. An announcement however will be made during the latter part of the week."

In mentioning those players who starred in Friday's basketball game, the name of George Kennedy was left out. George played a fine game, especially towards the close. He was unfortunate in his fouls, but his baskets were good, especially one which he scored towards the end of the game, which was a beauty.

The entry list in the Union billiard tournament is growing every day. Several stellar performers and a number of Bunsen Burnerites have put their names down recently. It is rumored that the Rectilinear Parallelepipedons, the First Floor Backs and the Popular Pencils Pushers will also enter representatives.

It seems a pity that the hockey season should end so early for us down here as now that McGill has played her two home games and there are no exhibition games in the air, it looks as if we had seen our team in action for the last time this season.

Notes and Comments

This year has furnished many surprises in amateur athletic circles. McGill first of all defeated Varsity in Toronto and then lost to Toronto down here. Queens also won against McGill away from home, and it is not entirely probable that McGill may retaliate in kind. If Queens defeat Varsity tonight and McGill can down the Limestone City hockey-ists it looks as though there might be a three-cornered tie.

Tonight, if the weather permits, Queens and Varsity will play their postponed game. Varsity, on form, should win out, but Queens are always a hard team to beat on their own ice. The Kingstonians, however have not had a great deal of practice and this will undoubtedly handicap them. Varsity, on the other hand, are in splendid shape and prepared to give the Presbyterians the battle of their life.

If Kingston ever expects to again shine in senior hockey, an artificial ice rink will have to be available, said a hockey enthusiast to-day. Now that Toronto has such a rink, note how splendidly their teams are doing. Outside teams look like school boys against them. It was not like that when there was no artificial ice in Toronto, so if Kingston is to win championships, it must have artificial ice.—Kingston Whig.

THINGS THEATRICAL

PRINCESS THEATRE

The joy of the followers and admirers of Bud Fisher's creations for the comic supplements, reaches its point of culmination this week.

Mutt and Jeff have come to life, and for the consideration of the usual price of admissions may be seen occupying the boards of our family theatre.

There is a conventional musical comedy plot with southern republic revolution, etc., but this is not very obtrusive, and affords a suitable background for the main figures, our old friends, Mutt and Jeff.

The humor of the first act is inclined to drag, but with the second act the fun grows furious and never slackens till the finish.

There are several songs in the piece which made a popular hit with the audience last evening, chief of these being Jeff's laughing song which was encored again and again. Among the sentimental ballads those most in favor were "You never were meant for me" and "Spanish Moon."

The company possesses in Miss Flora Russell a dancer of considerable ability. Her waltzes were very dainty and graceful, while her deft, and nimble feet twinkled through the mazes of the toe dances with bewildering speed and grace.

Mutt was suffering from a cold last evening but his efforts found a sympathetic audience. Jeff was in fine form and his embarrassments and tribulations delighted the crowd and without doubt will continue to do so for the rest of the week.

THE ORPHEUM

Again another week, and no headliner at the Orpheum, yet a very good programme is presented to the vaudeville patrons. For a starter the Wartenberg Bros. give an exceedingly clever exhibition of foot-juggling, their act is as good as any opener seen here this season.

They are followed by Halligan and Sykes, a duo who sing and talk to their hearts' content, at the same time pleasing their listeners. Burley and Burley have a novelty act, entitled "The Scot and the Dude", this might be classed either as an acrobatic feature, or as a comedy act, as either it is very good. The skit "The Piano Mover and the Actress," is, as the programme advertises, a laughable playlette, the setting is in a bare room the scenery a piano. Bert Levy is no doubt well known to us all, he is a celebrated newspaper cartoonist and if the orchestra could have played just as he wanted them to, he would have been much better pleased, and perhaps condescended to answer his encore.

Frank Mullane tells his jokes very well, but the jokes themselves are rather weak, his voice is good, but his songs were not written to be sung in vaudeville. William Weston and Company, in their novelty act, have a surprise in store for anyone intending to take in this show, their act is quite a novelty. De Vine and Williams, in their comedy sketch, keep themselves, as well as the audience, in one continual laugh. Miss Williams is a barrel of fun (this is a joke). The bill is brought to an end by a series of living pictures, formed by men and trained animals, also the usual Weekly Graphic, which so few remain to see, is shown.

HIS MAJESTY'S

The performance of the Toy Maker by the Pollard Opera Company at His Majesty's theatre last night seems to have left but one impression in the minds of those who were able to compare this presentation with those of the same organization that everyone felt sorry to a certain degree that these interesting people who used to fascinate us so much in the old days are now grown up to young men and women and have entered the realms of conventional professionalism. No doubt two or three years hence most of the principals of the company will be connected with some metropolitan attraction and they will be replaced by younger bloods whose ability we will be anxious to compare with so-and-so or so-and-so when they were small. Thus we find Teddy McNamara quite a mature young man and Eva Pollard a very charming young woman. That wonderful child, Daphne Pollard, is no longer with the company. She having married and settled in Seattle. Last night's performance, therefore was not characteristic by that old spirit which pervaded the Pollard production of previous years, it was nevertheless quite competent in every respect both in point of setting as well as in individual and ensemble work. Teddy McNamara is quite imitable and it is to him that the success of the performance is mainly due. Eva Pollard did some excellent work as an automaton. The most finished bit of impersonation was that of Queenie Williams as Madame Alahains. The rest of the cast was quite capable.

QUEENS UNIVERSITY
HONORS DR. WATSON
THE VICE-PRINCIPAL

Has been Forty Years at the Kingston College

A recent issue of the Queens Journal is devoted chiefly to celebrating the entrance of Prof. John Watson, the vice-Principal of that University upon his fortieth year of service there as head of the Department of Philosophy.

D. Watson tells the story of his four decades in the old Presbyterian University, and tributes concerning his work are given by Principal Gandier of Knox College and Rev. Dr. Milligan of Toronto.

Principal Gandier says: "For a generation John Watson has been the great exponent of the Kantian philosophy in the English-speaking world. Even more truly than his teacher, Edward Caird, he has discerned the real trend of Kant's thought, and without going off on side issue, has wrought out a consistent and thoroughgoing idealism." Dr. Milligan writes: "He will have the Kingdom of God nowhere but inside of men and things. He has been the ornament of Queen's for many years, and she does well to honor him. The day will come when his work will have a depth and extent of influence wherever our language finds usage, that will make the youngest among us wonder how the people of our day stared at comic singers and acrobats when we had here a man that Athens in its glory would have called a son of the gods."

Y. M. C. A. Notes

Beginning with this issue and hereafter once or twice a week, the university Y.M.C.A. propose to publish notes, announcements, and other items bearing on its work.

A CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS.

A call for volunteers to assist in educational work at McKenzie College in Sao Paulo, Brazil, has recently been sent in to the Students' Volunteer Movement. The McGill Y. M. C. A. has received a letter mentioning the needs and opportunities for educational and religious work in Sao Paulo, which is rapidly developing into a great modern city.

Two McGill graduates already hold positions in the science department at McKenzie College—Mr. E. O. T. Piers, '06, and Mr. R. B. Clarke, '11. Any students who are interested in this work can obtain further information from the secretaries, Strathcona Hall.

Mr. E. O. T. Piers was married on Dec. 3rd last, to Miss Martha Carrol at Sao Paulo, Brazil.

The Association recently received an invitation from Rev. Dr. Morrison of Ormstown, P.Q., who, by the way is an enthusiastic McGill supporter, asking that a couple of representatives be sent out to take charge of the church services next Sunday in Dr. Morrison's church. The occasion is a special young people's day and in response to the invitation, Messrs Gordon Irving and Reg. Buchanan, have volunteered to go. Their addresses will probably take the form of missionary appeals.

Speaking of the Bible, D. L. Moody once said, "This Book will keep you from sin, and sin will keep you from this Book." On another occasion: "I know that the Bible is inspired, because it inspires me."

A prayer group meets regularly every noon at Room D. Strathcona Hall. New members will be cordially welcomed. The time of meeting is 1.40—2 p.m.

THE MISSIONARY INSTITUTE

For several days next week, beginning on Wednesday the 12th, a missionary institute will be held at McGill, and several able men are coming to take part in the proceedings. Further announcements will appear at a later date.

INTER-CLASS MEET
TO BE HELD SOON
BY SWIMMING CLUB

Event of Much Interest Billed for February 11th or 12th

The Swimming Club intend to send a team to Toronto for the Intercollegiate Swimming and Water Polo meet, which will be in the best possible condition. The swimming team will hold three practices a week and the water polo team will also hold the same number.

The meet will in all probability take place on the seventeenth of February and should be a good one. Toronto are a little weak in the diving but have some good men in the sprints. They also expect to give McGill a good run for the honors in Water Polo.

In preparation for the meet the McGill Club are going to hold an interclass meet a week from either Wednesday or Thursday. This will consist of interclass races, diving and water polo games.

As the best men are pretty evenly distributed throughout the different years, this should prove very interesting. The second year look to have a bit the best chance in the swimming races as both McGill and Hodgson are in that year. Draper and Stavert are third year men, while Kerry, Patterson and Trapp are all in the first year. McKay and Edger-ton are in the fourth year. This meet should prove very interesting and will afford McGill men a chance of seeing their representatives in action.

"I've spent a whole evening going over my stock, and before moving to the Tooke corner at the end of the month I am going to clear out some 200 suits and Overcoats at half price—and less.

"Now that 'less' means less literally

"For I am going to give away some of these Overcoats—

"I have four Short Riding Coats and four Raincoats which I will give away to any man whom they will fit, provided he will donate $5 to the Sick Children's Hospital on Cedar Avenue.

"I have over 100 Ulsters and Overcoats, sizes 34 to 39, which I will sell as follows:

"The $15 Coats for $10.00
"The $18 Coats for $12.00

"The $25 Coats for $16.50

"And in Suits I am going to sell some as low as $7.50 just to clear them out.

"There will be Suits at $7.50
"And $15 Suits at $10
"$18 Suits for $12
"$25 Suits for $12.50 & $15

"Tomorrow I think I will publish the whole list, exactly as I have copied it out.

"But do not neglect seeing these Covert and Raincoats the paltry proceeds of which will go to the Sick Children's Hospital."
